Manage IT projects on time ... and on budget.

At Kolb+Co. we approach your projects with business knowledge and real-world technology skills to provide what you need to compete in today's economy. If you lack the appropriate staff for a specific project, or your internal IT staff is too busy to take on something new, we can step in and manage your IT project efficiently.

+ Project manager

Our project consultants can guide you through the pitfalls and complexities of implementing technology projects on time and on budget. You will be provided with manageable and timely project execution.

+ Technology consulting

We provide customized IT consulting services for your specific technology requirements. From networking infrastructure and database management, to cost analysis and technology review engagements, our technology services help your organization maintain its competitive edge through effective technologies.

+ Virtual CIO

Through our outsourced program, you can obtain the management level technology advisory services your organization requires without incurring the administrative burden and cost of a full-time position. We guide you through the process of defining business-related technology goals and provide ongoing direction and management toward these goals.
